SESSION ENDS SATURDAY

Measure Requiring First Aid Materials in Factories Favorably Acted On.

Richmond, N. C., February 27.—The House passed today, after long discussion and without material amendment, the legislative committee bill creating a State Fish Commission, to regulate the commercial fisheries interests. Efforts to exempt Currituck, Onslow and Camden counties were voted down.

Among the bills favorably reported to-day were to incorporate the Durham and Danville Railroad Company, to provide for Central State highway incorporation.

Brown, of Stanley, offered a bill to incorporate the Raleigh, Charlotte and Southern Railway Company.

In convening the House to-day, Speaker Down warned the members that the most orderly proceedings were necessary for the remaining days of the session. It was to be that the degree of dispatch that would bring about a cleaning of the calendar by Saturday night, when the session expires by limitation. There are 465 bills on the calendar, in addition to great numbers from the Senate and in the hands of the committees, and the introduction of new bills is not yet abated. He pledged his best effort to dispatch the business, and begged that no members

TEACHES HISTORY FALSE TO SOUTH

Patrons Disapprove Certain Text-Book Used in Roanoke College.

VETERANS TO TAKE ACTION

Judge Moffitt Instructs His Daughter Not to Attend Class.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Roanoke, Va., February 27.—A storm of disapproval is gathering at Roanoke College, caused by the use in the history class by Professor J. C. Thorstenburg as a text book of a "History of the United States of America" by H. W. Bliss.

Colonel W. H. Terrill, of Salem, has a nephew attending the college, and he accidentally had his attention called to some of the contents of the history which his nephew was studying. Colonel Terrill showed the book to neighbors and friends, and was highly indignant.

W. H. Tinsley, of Salem, informed a Roanoke newspaper of the condition, and it is said that he has written to other newspapers. The matter will be taken up by William Watts Camp of Confederate Veterans in this city.

Many extreme objections are pointed out, and these are regarded as absolutely in conflict with the facts of history, and likely to mislead Southern students perverted ideas of their own section and ancestry, and of the Confederate cause, and the armies of which practically all of them had relatives.

The history deals with the John Brown raid, and with the war, which it attributes to slavery. The historian further besmirches the name of Robert E. Lee in the discussion of the close of the war.

It has been learned that Judge W. W. Moffitt, of Salem, in December learned of the teaching of the history.

Judge Discussed Matter. Judge Moffitt directed the attention of President Morehead to some of the objectionable features. The judge was referred to Professor Thorstenburg and wrote to him. The correspondence seems to have been unsatisfactory to him, however.

He was very anxious, as a trustee, to avoid injury to the college, and as a judge and a patron to show the most absolute respect to the college discipline and laws. At the same time he resented having the thought of the college and a patron, having his own daughter taught what he regarded as abominable and slanderous falsehood against her own people, State and country. He said, "I am sure that the professor of his day that he preferred not giving out the correspondence with Professor Thorstenburg, and was reluctant to discuss the publication. It is known, however, that as a final resort, having been unable to secure any redress or satisfactory answer, either from President Morehead or the professor of his day, he reluctantly instructed his daughter to refrain from attending the history class. This may bring about a decisive issue.

It is understood that under the college rule a student refusing to attend classes is subject to expulsion. Should this action be taken in the case of Miss Moffitt, it is safe to say that her father will make a very distinct issue.

and fight it to a serious finish. It is not impossible that other students will be forbidden by their parents to attend Professor Thorstenburg's class while the objectionable book is used. The professor is from Kansas, and it is understood that the author of the history book was his classmate in college. It is said that the Confederate veterans will take official notice of the matter and protest. The veterans generally are stirred deeply.

years, stopped to rest his horses, and in a spirit of fun began boxing Moses Smith, colored, aged fifteen. The negro boy attempted an upper-cut in the ribs, but missed his aim, and struck Miller in the face, breaking his left jawbone. Miller, who is a brother of Dr. J. P. Miller, of Goode Mills, was badly injured. He was rushed to University Hospital, Charlottesville, for operation.

Amateur League Affairs. The schedule committee of the Richmond Amateur Baseball League failed to complete its work last night, and another meeting will be held this afternoon, at which all of the details of the schedules will be completed. It is expected that a meeting of the committee on by-laws and constitution will get together to-morrow night, just as soon as the work of the committee is completed. A special meeting of the board of directors, together with the board of arbitration, will be held when all arrangements will be completed and the affairs of the league put in such shape that the beginning of the league season will find everything attended to.

A matter of much importance to the league is the question of a uniform contract for the players. It is understood that several of the managers are requiring their players to sign up contracts. Such action is undoubtedly desirable, and it is thought that inasmuch as some of the players were not put in such shape that the beginning of the league season will find everything attended to.

ROY SHOWS FORM IN GOOD CONTEST

Leads Plumbers to Well-Earned Victory Over Times-Dispatch Bowlers.

The Times-Dispatch team fell a victim to the Plumbers last night on the Newport Allys, after three exciting games, losing two and winning one. Roy, captain of the Plumbers, was high individual and high total score, with Whitman, of the Times-Dispatch, a close second, but five pins separating the two. Davis and Hulcher, of the newspaper crowd, failed to roll up to their usual form, and thereby hangs the tale of defeat.

Following will be found the score and standing of the teams:

How Many Women Destroy Their Hair?

(From the London Saturday Review.) One of the best known hairdressers in London—much patronized by royalty—has the following to say: "Frequent washing of the head with soap and water or prepared shampoos makes the hair brittle and causes it to lose its color and split at the ends."

"Any person desiring abundant, lustrous hair should use a dry shampoo frequently. Mix 4 ounces of orris root with 4 ounces of therax. Sprinkle a tablespoonful of this mixture evenly upon the head; then brush the powder thoroughly through the hair."

"Therax and orris root keep the hair light and fluffy, and beautifully lustrous—it heightens but does not change the natural color of the hair. Therax is the only thing I know that will produce a growth of hair."
